

Emily B. Huie

March 11, 1939 to June 13, 2008

Relationship to St. Andrew United Methodist Church: Emily first joined Epworth Heights Methodist Church in 1968 before the merger. She remained an active member until the family moved to Zionsville, Indiana in 1976. She rejoined St. Andrew after the family returned to West Lafayette. She served on numerous ministry areas over the years, including education, community ministries, trustees, missions, and council on ministries. She sang in the choir, served as usher, bearer of the word and light and communion steward. She took the lead in the church's sponsorship of Sophia Chiremba through her degree at Africa University and then as a graduate student at Purdue where she completed both a masters and doctoral degree. She and her husband William Anong and their son William now live in Blacksburg, Virginia. Sophia is an assistant professor at Virginia Tech and her husband is studying to become a medical doctor.

Family: Parents: Samuel Hugh and Harriett Abernathy Braly from Pulaski, Tennessee. Husband: John M. Huie. They were married February 11, 1961. Sons: John C. Huie (wife: Julie Williams, children: Matthew and Anna) and Michael L. Huie (wife: Jackie Johnson, children: Taylor, Grant and Rhett)

Recognitions, Activities, Special Interests: Emily earned a BS degree in Home Economics Education from Auburn University. She served as 4-H agent in Lee County,

Alabama, Family and Consumer Science Educator in Tippecanoe County, Indiana, worked as Food Service Supervisor in Purdue residence halls, Nursing Home Ombudsman for Indiana, and real estate agent for Shook agency. Emily always loved flowers. She and John raised roses for many years and shared them with the church and with John's co-workers. She also made silk flower arrangements and shared many of them with the church and other organizations. She loved to swim and was active in water aerobics. She was the family's caregiver. In addition to caring and raising two boys and supporting her husband, she cared for both of her parents for many years in her home

Use of Funds: Family has requested funds be directed toward Missions' ministries. The funds were dispersed to the Missions Work Area for their outreach programs. Memorial gifts were also given to the Purdue Foundation for Huie Endowment for International Programs in Agriculture.

Emily B. Huie, 69

Emily B. Huie, 69, of West Lafayette, died at home Friday, June 13, 2008, after a year-long struggle with cancer.

Born March 11, 1939, in Pulaski, Tenn., she was the daughter of Harriett and Hugh Braly. She graduated from Giles County High School, attended Martin Methodist University, the University of Montevallo and graduated from Auburn University.

She married John M. Huie on Feb. 12, 1961. He survives.

Mrs. Huie was a 4-H educator with the Alabama Extension Service and a Consumer and Family Science Educator in Indiana. She worked in food service at Purdue, was the Nursing Home Ombudsman for Indiana and a real estate agent for the Shook Agency in Lafayette.

She was active in her church, starting the Meals on Wheels program in Zionsville, while serving on the Zionsville United Methodist Church's community ministry program. In West Lafayette, she helped St. Andrew United Methodist Church sponsor a student at Africa University in Zimbabwe.

She enjoyed flowers, swimming and water aerobics.

Surviving with her husband are two sons, John Carlton (wife: Julie) and Michael Lane (wife: Jackie).

Memorial service 3 p.m. Sunday, June 22, 2008, at St. Andrew United Methodist Church in West Lafayette. A time of visitation and reminiscing with family and friends will be held following the services. Graveside services will be held in Pulaski, Tenn. Surviving are grandchildren, Matthew, Anna, Taylor, Grant and Rhett. Emily was the caregiver in her family. In addition to being dedicated to her immediate family, running the household and supporting her husband and two sons, she cared for her mother and father in her home for 15 years. People who knew Emily remember her as a fun, loving and classy lady who could also be thoughtful and serious. People loved to be in her company. After John's retirement, she enjoyed aerobics in the pools in the R.V. parks in Florida during the winter. There, she met and made many new friends. She and John grew and shared roses for many years. Also, St. Andrew has enjoyed many of her silk arrangements over the years. Memorial gifts may be given to Purdue Foundation with a memo notation for Huie Endowment for IPIA (International Programs in Agriculture) in memory of Emily Huie. Mail to: Agricultural Development Office, 715 W. State St., West Lafayette, IN 47906. Fisher-Loy Funeral Chapel, Lafayette, has been entrusted with arrangements. You may light a virtual candle online and share condolences in her guestbook at www.fisherloy.com.
