

Anna Wintle

July 23, 1923 to September 1, 2007

Relationship to St. Andrew United Methodist Church: Anna's husband had been a pastor at another United Methodist Church in Lafayette, but she chose to become a member of St. Andrew. She said years before joining, she had driven by the church and noted that the sign out front said "United" Methodist Church, even before the merger with the Evangelical United Brethren had been solidified. She liked the idea that this congregation was looking "forward."

Family: Anna was the only child of Charles and Louise Moore and she was born in Dallas, Texas. She was married to Frederick S. Wintle, who died in 1988. She is survived by two nieces and their husbands, Nancy and Scott Kincaid and Karen and Michael DeBellis, seven great nieces and nephews, and as she liked to say, various great great baby relatives.

Recognitions, Activities, Special Interests: Anna was active in everything United Methodist. She was a member of the choir in the church that Fred pastored. She taught Sunday School and VBS. She was a member of United Methodist Women, holding many local, district and conference offices. She was a Study Leader at Schools of Christian Mission throughout the United States. As a Director of Women's Division of the UMC General Board of Global Ministries, she traveled globally, including India. She was a member of the Board of Directors of St. Paul School of Theology in Kansas City. Anna was active in Church Women United and was a member of Chapter EM of the P.E.O.

Sisterhood. She and Fred were active in the Wabash Gem and Mineral Society and Anna loved to create jewelry. Anna enjoyed presenting programs and speeches to groups, but she didn't take herself too seriously, saying that her speeches were "disposable." During her time at University Place, she took great joy in helping lead worship services for the residents. (Information shared by niece Nancy Kincaid.)

Memorial funds were directed to any United Methodist Women's unit, including St. Andrew United Methodist Church. The funds received by St. Andrew United Methodist Women were designated as a gift for Missions through the Lafayette District UMW.
